Rutherford, NJ (PRWEB) November 18, 2005 -- AnyMenuOnline.com recently launched a new website that enables restaurant owners to advertise their menus and other services online for as little as $52 per year. They can reach more people than any local Yellow Pages costing as much as $6,000 for a half-page display ad or a local newspaper with a cost of as much as $3,000. That is only one dollar a week for the potential of reaching millions of customers. There are no other hidden fees guaranteed.

Restaurant owners can edit, change, and update content to their menu. They can provide printable customer coupons, provide daily specials, or complete changes to their menu.
